SEND FOOD DRAFTS, NOT MONEY, ADVICE OF COMMISSIONERS

America is daily stretching her hands across the sea extending aid to those people in war-torn Europe who are homeless and without sufficient food. Local residents have recently been making inquiry through the Janesville Gazette information Bureau how they can be of most service to their friends and relatives over there.

Residents of Germany and Austria are writing back that the money which their friends are sending is of little value to them for they are unable to purchase food directly from abroad. The American Relief commission maintains food warehouses in the larger cities of Germany and Austria where upon presenting a draft written on an American bank, food may be purchased. The local banks are handling these drafts which may be purchased for any amount. If these are sent directly to the person or handed through the American branch of the commission assistance is obtained more quickly than by sending money.

"Stay on Crosswalks."

QUIT THE LAND, WORK IN MINES

Chicago—Talking about doing your bit about "How You Gonna Keep 'Em Down on the Farm" in western farming districts today is as healthy as singing "The Titan of Steel" for the offering there in the local circuit.

Never, during the war or at any other time, have the farmers so seriously handicapped by labor shortage as now.

250,000 Men Short

Conservative figures, amplified by the reports of the department of agriculture, place the man shortage in the Mississippi valley at 250,000, or practically 20 percent.

Alarmists are pointing to the unprecedented sales of grain and cotton and they say that the farmers, unable to compete with industrial wages, are giving up in despair and are planting their acres in grass. They say that the country will have this matter brought to the attention of their pocketbooks this fall when under-production will cause an unprecedented era of high prices.

Conservative Opinion

More conservative agricultural experts believe this condition is not as bad as painted, but admit that there is a growing movement among farmers to remain idle while they work in industry. They say that the shortage of floating labor will be a serious problem in the near future.

What is true of Illinois applies to every other western agricultural state, it is said.

Every county in Illinois has a farm labor shortage of from five to 100 men.

More significant, 35 percent of this shortage is caused by the desertion of the farmers by sons of the owner, or by men directly interested in the ownership of the land.

Dean Eugene Davenport of the University of Illinois reported to the association that farmers in Illinois are not only losing their land to the cities but their sons are going to the cities without help. The number of girls leaving the farms is almost as great.

Next to the attraction of big city wages, the farmers give as reason the almost complete dearth of social life in the country, caused by the desertion of so many young people.

Many Illinois farmers, cultivating 160 acres, are forced to do it alone. Experienced farm labor is offered from $40 to $75 a month with all living expenses, and there are practically no applicants for the jobs.

About Farm Wages

"I will give any good man who will work for me $75 a month, a garden of his own, chickens, and the use of my automobile," one farmer wrote to the association. "All I ask is that he be an experienced farmer."

There is nothing exceptional in either of these offers. The farmers are on their knees.

Married men who will bring their wives to the farm are being offered from $75 to $100 with few takers.

Asked for any possible solution of the question, farm men simply throw up their hands.

Prices to Climb

"We cannot expect any solution until farmers receive prices comparable to the most industrial wages," said B. W. Snow, agricultural authority. "The floating labor shortage is not the serious question. It is the desertion of the farm by the boy who might one day own it. That is worrying everybody who knows the trend of the times."

FIREMEN EXTINGUISH BLAZE UNDER PORCH

The fire department was called out shortly before noon today to extinguish a blaze under the porch of the P. E. Burke home, 608 Holmes street. There was no damage.

A broken wire of the alarm system was the cause for frantic ringing of the fire bell at 12:15 this afternoon. The defect was remedied by the city electrician, Lee Peterson.

U. S. URGES VILLA TO COOPERATE WITH CALLES

Washington, May 21.—Efforts to bring Villa completely into line with the revolutionary movement in Mexico are continuing despite failure of General Calles and Villa's representative to reach an agreement yesterday at Chihuahua. It was said here today by representatives of the de facto government, messengers were sent today to both Villa and Calles urging the necessity of cooperation, they said.

A report to the state department that General Huerta was preparing to lead an expedition against General Arrieta is said to have caused the capital of Durango for Carranza, said to give greater importance to the doubtful attitude assumed by Villa. Arrieta and Villa are enemies and a coalition of their forces is not to be expected, it was said. The confidence of their anti-government positions would afford the new government increased trouble in that section of the country.

The flying squadron, from Moose Lodge No. 1451, Madison, will be in this city next Thursday evening to break the legion meeting which will be held in Beloit, June 6.

ROCKFORD RANKS FOURTH IN SIZE IN CITIES OF ILLINOIS

Washington, May 21.—The federal census bureau at Washington has announced Rockford's official population figures as 65,661, an increase of 20,253 people, or 44.8 per cent over the 1910 figures of 45,407.

Rockford has passed Springfield in population and again ranks fourth in size in Illinois cities.

Peoria, the second city, lost out in growth during the past ten years, showing but a 12 per cent gain in the decade, increasing by less than 10,000. East St. Louis figures have not yet been announced, but estimates have been made showing a population of 74,000, insuring third place.

Springfield was unable to keep up the pace set from 1900 to 1910, but increased from 51,673 to 59,153 or 14.6 per cent.

Other census figures announced today are as follows: Chicago, 933,732; increase 26,847 or 40.4 per cent.

Bristol, Conn., 20,620, increase 7,118 or 34.5 per cent.

La Grange, Ga., 17,033, increase 14,451 or 205 per cent.

University City, Mich., 10,225, decrease 1,190 or 9.8 per cent.

Redding, Calif., 2,912, decrease 660 or 18.4 percent.

'Twould Take Long Time To Drink 1,057 Quarts

Chicago, May 21.—John Spiess, former saloonkeeper, would have to live to be 155 years old to drink up 1,057 quarts of liquor which federal agents recently seized from him, according to Judge Landis' figures.

The judge denied Spiess' petition for the return of the liquor which he contended was for his own use, after estimating it would take one man 102 years to drink it. Spiess gave his age as 53.

Marries Two Young Girls Under Age, Not Bigamist

Chicago, May 21.—Marrying two young girls under age does not constitute bigamy, it was decided in Judge Parn's court Wednesday, and Anton Barlow was found not guilty of the charge. He married Freda Newell, 16, and later married Charlotte Lazarus, 15. The jury held that his marriage to Miss Newman was not bigamy as she was under age and hence his second marriage was not bigamous.

POLISH SUCCESS OR FAILURE.

There seems to be great danger that the victories of the Poles on the southern end of the long line extending into the Ukraine are to be lost in the advance of the bolshevik army on the northern front near Lithuania. The Poles have to maintain a front longer even than that of the allied army in France. This campaign is in many ways as important to the peace of Europe and the world as the war with Germany. Poland assumed the job of erecting a buffer nation between the west and the Soviet anarchy and succeeded where all others had failed in the capture of Kiev and the advance to Odessa. Russia's chief Black Sea port. Holding that territory meant the control of the wheat fields of Russia, the great "black ground" belt, the richest soil in Europe.

In the movement of the Polish army it has been disclosed that aid in arms has been given by Great Britain and much of the stores for the army came from America. The whole civilized world is interested in the success of the Polish campaign. It will be the wall against bolshevik anarchy. In Russia itself the signs of disintegration of the Lenin government are many. Gen. Brusiloff, with the military arm at his back, seems to have succeeded the civil government. The news from Moscow has been so censored for the past week that it is impossible to state what the exact conditions are, but there are many evidences that the Lenin and Trotsky game has been played close to the finish.

NEW YORK IS ALARMED.

Not only is New York city alarmed over the shipping conditions which they prophesy will follow the construction of the St. Lawrence canal and the making of a gateway direct from the lake region to the ports of Europe, but there is a local condition that has sent grain and much other freight to other Atlantic ports for export. This has weakened the position of the metropolis as the leading port of America. However, New York seems to be unduly alarmed. It probably will work out that with the new route to the ports of the world, the New York docks will have all they can care for. The state will be wholly behind Governor Philipp in his advocacy of the canal as a matter of vital interest to the state of Wisconsin. The special session of the legislature will do well to pass a strong resolution in its favor.

THE SPECIAL SESSION CALL.

The much heralded special session of the Wisconsin legislature ostensibly to correct rent profiteering, is so restricted in that one item that legislation will apply only to Milwaukee. So we at once lose our local interest in rents.

The 25 other items in the call issued by the governor are nearly all for school and university appropriations. As a general principle a special session called for such a purpose is not to be encouraged. There is too much waste in the expenditure of state funds. We have scattered money with a lavish hand and with the multiplicity of commissions and state government by commission rather than by the departments which were established by the constitution we have gone far afield.

Had the governor called a special session for the purpose of relieving the people of the excessive burden of taxation or to wipe out a half dozen commissions we would have had a wide popular approval.

UNMOVED GRAIN, HOARDING, AND SLOW PRODUCTION.

Nebraska reports 20,000,000 bushels of wheat in the elevators not moved and waiting for cars. That has been a large factor in the financial market, which was followed by a price cut in merchandise. It has curtailed the cash in circulation and caused heavy demands on the banks for loans. Business houses have been large borrowers for they have had to sell on credits with the day of payment a movable quantity depending on the grain shipment. That has made the reduction of stocks by the merchants a necessity. Banks have refused to advance more money in the present condition of business for the purchase of additional stocks, and this, too, has caused heavy selling from retail stores.

Add to this an appreciable slackening of consumption caused by high prices and we have an easy answer to the present situation. There is no likelihood of a panic. The Federal Reserve board is able to care for conditions as they arise. A canvass made of the whole country by the New York Sun and Herald, discloses the fact that both manufacturers and wholesalers in numerous cases have been hoarding stocks of goods in the hope of a higher market and therefore advanced profits. These are the men who should be reached by the banks in the curtailment of loans and also by the attorney general of the United States.

Then, too, production by the workers in factories has been greatly curtailed. It is reported that with the same force and under the same conditions, production has fallen off from 20 to 45 percent. That is, a man who was making, say 100 articles daily, a year or two years ago, is now making 45 or 80. Here is an enormous factor in cost. This has kept the supply of goods far below the demand in many lines. Take the lessening of production, the delivery in only small quantities to retailers, and the hoarding for higher prices and we have a very good answer to the question as to why things are as they are. We apparently have forgotten that there ever was a golden rule in business.

What a big industry means in the way of building a locality in population and wealth is shown by the census returns for two villages surrounded by the corporate limits of the city of Detroit. One of these villages has the Ford and the other the Dodge Brothers plants, and only Racine, Superior and Milwaukee in Wisconsin have a larger population. Janesville will be in the same class as these cities of extraordinary growth if we meet the situations presented from day to day, the biggest one being the housing of laborers.

Permits issued show that the Gazette was correct in its statement that what the city needed was not so much the many houses of a high cost, but more of a figure that will appeal to the man who wants to save and be within his earning power.

Eastern papers are worrying over whether Adam was whiskers or had a face like Sitting Bull. This may be aimed to take the public mind off the price of straw hats.

Russia has adopted a work day of 24 hours. The rest of the time the people may have for murder, pillage and other light sports.

When it comes to non-essential industries there is but one—that is the making of loaded dice for Nubian ping-pong.

Pancho Villa, who retired for a few days, is back and wants his. What that is he does not state, but generally it is all but the core.

It probably was a hard pull to get the dentists to cut prices.

At the Nation's Capital

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright 1920 by Janesville Gazette)

Washington, D. C., May 21.—America is at the moment experiencing an economic readjustment which the treasury department and the federal reserve board regard as inevitably for the better. Reliance is based upon the alertness of public opinion and the readiness of the banking and business public to consent to curtailment of unnecessary and unproductive credits.

But the view at the executive end of the avenue is not altogether shared by members of congress, who are of the opinion that the federal reserve board and Secretary Houston are pursuing a conservative policy and that their program will influence the whole business world. Incidentally Secretary Houston's letter to Chairman Fordney of the House ways and means committee is intended as a warning that congress had better cease thinking about a soldier bonus and give serious consideration to the prospect of increasing taxes to meet current government expenses. And it is not only congress and the executive departments are today more deeply absorbed in the economic situation than they have been since the close of the war.

This renaissance comes at a time when congress is anxious to get away from the political squabbling and to attend to the pressing problems of the country. It is a time when constituents indicate that back home business men, bankers, merchants and manufacturers are watching Washington for any moves that may affect what has been referred to so often as "essential" and "non-essential lines of business."

The effort to curtail the amount of borrowing by insisting that members banks of the federal reserve system actually discriminate in the classes of loans that they make is expected to produce results. In fact the treasury believes results are already in evidence. But on capital hill Senator Owen's suggestion that instead of increasing the interest rates, they should be lowered to three or four per cent has unquestionably encouraged various borrowers to believe that if they get behind the movement they can bring about a reduction instead of an increase in interest rates. Senator Owen argues, for instance, that there should be discrimination on the part of the federal reserve banks in applying their interest rates, and that loans for speculative and unproductive purposes should pay the highest interest rates and production should be encouraged in other enterprises by correspondingly lower rates. He advocates uniformity of discrimination which means that farmers in Texas should be able to borrow their money for the same rate as cattlemen in Montana.

Secretary Houston is inclined to look upon Senator Owen's economics as faulty and contends that ninety-nine out of a hundred economists would not agree with the Oklahoma senator's contention. The head of the treasury department declares that the interest rates fixed by the federal reserve board must bear some relationship to the uses of money outside of the government circle. He asserts, for example, that if money were loaned by the government at three or four per cent, the resources of the federal reserve system would not only be drained but used to the detriment of the government. He would be able to borrow for the presidency, really, he is able to borrow for the production of what is an essential or non-essential line of business, but what is an essential or non-essential line in a particular business. The treasury believes the member banks in their respective communities can exert the only influence that can at all be applied in America's complex economic structure, and that the only way the government can really help is to carry the whole economic load. Expressions that may have gone out concerning an arbitrary restriction of credit are unwarranted. The treasury's view is merely that legitimate and essential credits should be advanced and that the high interest rates will drive speculative investments from the market and release money for productive purposes.

Nobody of course can say what factors will be controlling in the readjustment that has been begun, but a check to expansion of credits has been applied. Senator Owen and his school of thinkers believe restriction is purely a matter of degree for the presidency, really, he is able to borrow for the production of what is an essential or non-essential line of business, but what is an essential or non-essential line in a particular business. The treasury believes the member banks in their respective communities can exert the only influence that can at all be applied in America's complex economic structure, and that the only way the government can really help is to carry the whole economic load. Expressions that may have gone out concerning an arbitrary restriction of credit are unwarranted. The treasury's view is merely that legitimate and essential credits should be advanced and that the high interest rates will drive speculative investments from the market and release money for productive purposes.

JUST FOLKS

BAD CHILDREN.
Sometimes they're bad as they can be, An' seem to want to worry me. They'll keep on doin' things 'till said That if they do they'll be bad. They'll run around the room an' shout An' throw their various toys about An' irritate me 'till I'm mad. I'll start a good old fashioned row An' take 'em both across my knee An' spank 'em good an' properly.

Much as I love 'em, I don't claim That they are perfect. It's a shame The way they carry on when they Get started in a reckless way. They'll peek me sometime until My nervous system gets a chill, An' when I storm about the place, They'll stand an' laugh right to my face. Sometimes I think nobody had Children that ever were so bad.

But just about the time that I Have almost let my temper fly, Somehow there always comes to me A little boy who used to be— A rascal with a grinning grin, Who set a fine old fashioned pace, As bad a boy, when he was bad, As any parent ever had. An' I don't have a word to say, 'Cos time was I was worse than they.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

NO, IT DOESN'T WORK.
We have been interested In the suit-pedal marriage Of Fannie. When her husband wants To take dinner with her, He calls her up on the phone, And she says: "Sweetie, No other engagements. She dines with him. It sounded pretty good And we thought we would Try out the system and Take it apart to see So we called up the wife, And after a couple of hours, We got her on the phone, And we said: "Sweetie, We can't see you This evening at dinner. But if you will dine downtown With our pal Dick tonight, We will be charmed."

And she replied at once: "Why, you big boob! You get home and make it snappy, And get here by six o'clock. And don't let the chops Get cold. If you can't make it by six, I'll be down After you." Which Leads us to believe that There are marriages And marriages.

(You know the tune.) I wish I'd raised my boy to be a plumber. He'd always been a good boy, and a good boy. Of if I'd even taught him to scoop mortar. He'd surely put us many—a-loy. LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO.
May 21, 1880.—There was a big crowd to greet Coups' show, which arrived here this morning from Fond du Lac. The streets were crowded at the parade at noon and it is expected that there will be big crowds at both the Auditorium and the new store later in the afternoon. It is now one of the finest drug stores in the southern part of the state.

THIRTY YEARS AGO.
May 21, 1890.—The Bower City band will give an open-air concert in the Corn Exchange park this evening. The band now consists of eighteen pieces and is under able leadership of Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Harris. The Janesville Machine company have been in Aurora, Ill., looking over conditions there, as the citizens of that city are desirous of having the factory locate there. There will be a citizens' meeting Friday night to see what can be done to keep them here.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.
May 21, 1900.—A serious runaway was caused this morning by a young man riding a bicycle, belonging to Adam Brown, became frightened by the bicycle and ran up Milwaukee street, across the bridge. He was caught by the Milwaukee police and taken to the jail. The bicycle was on River street and was stopped near the postoffice.

TEN YEARS AGO.
May 21, 1910.—The first step toward booming Janesville was taken when the directors of the newly-formed Industrial and Commercial club, hired Louis DeArmand as secretary of the club. Mr. DeArmand was a real success. Four thousand dollars has been secured for the work of the club. Offices have been donated.

Simplified Currency

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington, May 21.—The average American who goes along with the currency reform and who carries a lone bill or two in his vest pocket, little appreciates the fact that there are a great many different currencies printed by the federal government. The average individual pays almost no attention to a detail of the sort of bills he pays as a legal tender. He is likely to be surprised if he opens his wallet and finds that of the five bills contained in it not two are alike. He pays no attention whatever to the fact that some of those bills are silver certificates, some of them are national bank notes, some are federal reserve currency. He merely has the feeling that the United States government is back of them and that they are consequently as good as gold.

In this last impression he is entirely correct. All of these bills are actually good and if anybody uses as money paper which is not of proper issue, paper which is counterfeit, the federal government will punish those who are responsible for it. Occasionally the mere individual stops to wonder if this extremely complicated currency is necessary or if it would be possible to get along with a much simplified method of issue.

Reduce 20,000 to Six
Judge James H. Moyle, an assistant secretary of the treasury, having the charge of the bureau of engraving and printing, has been doing a bit of wondering and converting his speculation into an investigation. He has reached definite conclusions. He has concluded that the present currency is too complicated, too expensive and too difficult to handle. He has concluded that a simplified currency of 20,000 varieties of notes not issued by the government but by the national bank notes, would save the government at least $500,000 a year.

Having become convinced from an investigation in the treasury department of the advisability of simplifying the issue of currency, Judge Moyle took the question up with many individual bankers and finally with the American Bankers' association. His plan has met with almost universal approval from the members of this association. No banker has pointed to any unworkable feature in the way of this proposed simplification.

Experts Favor Plan
As a matter of fact the proposal is not entirely new. Experts in the treasury department have used the term "simplified currency" for the past 10 years. John G. Herndon, one of these experts still in the treasury, proposed a similar plan in 1912. A bill was at that time introduced in the house of representatives by John Q. Tilson, Connecticut. The proposal was to issue a single bill of $100, which would be the only bill in circulation. It has never been brought to an actual enactment into law.

The currency issued by the government, the paper money which everybody uses, is a "Topsy affair," which merely grew of itself. Every time a new bill is issued, the government of the nation seems to have called forth a new issue of paper money. So complicated has grown the structure that few people have the terminology to say that they understand it, that it is ridiculously complex and that it may be easily simplified. The plan of the treasury department is to issue a single bill of $100, which would be the only bill in circulation. It has never been brought to an actual enactment into law.

THE DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

JEFFERY ASKS A QUESTION.

June 25.—Jeffery came to pose for me this morning. He was in high spirits and told me that "Cecilia" would join with me in a "Cecilia" out of the picture for two hours and then he gave a long yawn, which conveyed to me the fact that he was getting tired. I said before that Jeff is extremely magnetic. Well, he is all of that, as well as fascinating. Aunt Cecilia is doing well for herself. He is beautifully lean, graceful as a panther, and so well groomed and clean looking always. I am sure that dozens of women have been in love with him, and yet he came back to get his Cecilia. So much for the modern theory that men are in love with their feelings are concerned. Jeff certainly knew what he wanted and stuck to the idea through all the years. He has a strong character.

We sat and talked while we waited for Aunt Cecilia and he was so interesting. Finally the husband and wife came. Aunt Cecilia, very cleverly, I'll admit, and before I knew it he was listening to a recital of just what the darling had had to go through since his disappearance twelve years ago!

Evidently she had said but little concerning the matter and I saw his face go dull red at the way she had waited for news from him, renounced other admirers, and thrown aside the paltry taunts that had been hurled at her for being the family old maid. Once he laughed right out.

CASH WHIPPLE IN RACE FOR SHERIFF

Assurance of a tri-cornered race for the republican nomination for sheriff of Rock county came yesterday with the formal announcement of Cash Whipple, Beloit, that he will enter the field against the two Janesville men who have announced themselves as candidates—Officer Charles Handy and Fred Hencke.

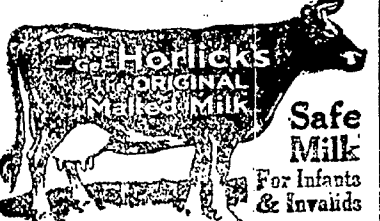

Mr. Whipple was sheriff in 1913-14. He is now a night watchman for the Beloit merchants. He is a brother of Robert O. Whipple, who held the county office in 1917-18. Fred Hencke, retiring sheriff, has announced that he will oppose Howard W. Lee for re-election as county clerk.

BOY, WORRIED BY STUDIES, ENDS LIFE

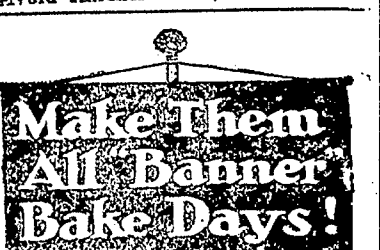

St. Atkinson, May 21.—When Mrs. Fred Pieritz telephoned for a doctor to come and visit her son, Orville, Wednesday, the boy went up to the sleeping porch, took his father's revolver and shot himself. He died before the doctor reached the home. The boy, who is only 16 years old, had had difficulty with his high school studies recently and had worried until he became sick.

The father is a widely known business man of this city and only recently had given the boy $200 worth of stock in a flourishing local concern in an attempt to cheer him up.

HOW ONE MAN MADE FORTUNE IN SUGAR

Chicago, May 21.—That Chicago housewives have lost the opportunity to buy 5,000 (one 11,000,000 pounds) of sugar through the refusal of a speculator to fulfill his contracts with local merchants is charged in a suit filed yesterday in the Circuit court.

George H. Holt, wealthy lumber dealer and real estate operator, who owns the Manhattan building and other Chicago real estate, and is also an officer of the Holt Lumber Co., in Oconto, Wis., where the lumber workers are striking for 30 days, is named as the defendant. Hadesman Bros., wholesale grocers, and Mittelman Bros., owners of a chain of groceries, who made $45,000 by purchasing sugar from Holt, are named as the plaintiffs.

The original price at 11 1/2 cents per pound, the plaintiffs said, was a subsidiary of the I. E. Du Pont & Co. of New York, who owned the Acadia Sugar Refining company of Halifax, Nova Scotia. It called for the delivery of the sugar at 11 1/2 cents a pound.

Holt is said to have acquired the contract and offered the sugar on the Chicago market several months ago at 13 1/2 cents. Holt's broker, Hadesman Bros., offered to purchase it at that price.

Holt is said to have demurred after the price was raised to 14 1/2 cents, asserting that his broker had "no power to act" for him. Next day Hadesman Bros., with Mittelman Bros., and the plaintiffs, directly and the purchase was arranged at 14 1/2 cents a pound.

"Next day Holt had left the city, but a representative had appointed to investigate whether they could get the sugar at the promised time," said Attorney Stafford. "Holt agreed and inquired at the refinery whether the sugar would be delivered."

"Next day Holt had left the city, but a representative had appointed to investigate whether they could get the sugar at the promised time," said Attorney Stafford. "Holt agreed and inquired at the refinery whether the sugar would be delivered."

"But the loss to the people of Chicago," he said, "is greater. It means that 11,000,000 pounds of sugar which should come here is to be diverted to some other place."

NEW YORKER SUCCEEDS BLISS ON ST. PAUL ROAD

Milwaukee, May 21.—George J. Milson, New York, has been elected a director of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company in place of Walter P. The board re-elected the list of 60 officers.

PASTOR GIVEN $5,000 FOR ALLEGED SLANDER

Fond du Lac, May 21.—The Rev. C. G. Gerlach, pastor of the Lutheran church at Rosendale, was awarded $5,000 by a jury in circuit court Thursday afternoon for alleged slanderous statements made by Frank Gerlach, president of the Rosendale Telephone company.

The jury awarded the Rev. Mr. Gerlach $5,000 for the injury to his reputation and standing caused by the writing of the alleged libelous letter to the Rev. Augustine, president of the Wisconsin branch of the Iowa-Wisconsin Synod, $1,500 for the writing of a letter to the Rev. Mr. Gamellin of Beaver Dam, and $1,500 for the writing of a letter to the Rev. Mr. Pilger of Ripon.

The jury held that Gruett wrote the letters for the purpose of procuring a hearing on the charges previously preferred against the Rev. Mr. Gerlach, believing that various ministers were the proper officers of the synod through whom to procure a hearing. The jury held further that the defendant had an honest belief that the plaintiff was guilty of all the misconduct charged in the letters to him by the letters. They held that Gruett was actuated by malice when he wrote the letters.

FARMING PROGRESSES DESPITE COLD DAYS
Farm work progressed during the past week despite the cool weather, says the weather bureau's weekly report on Wisconsin crop conditions.

The weather continued cool throughout the week, the report stated, with heavy to chilling frosts occurring over the greater part of the state on the 14th, causing some injury to tender truck and to berry blossoms in the southern counties.

There was adequate sunshine and the weather was generally favorable for farm work, but vegetation made slow advance, particularly the corn, barley and rye are reported in fair condition, and pastures much improved. Corn planting in the southern counties. Spring grains are coming up in the central districts and are looking well. Tobacco beds are healthy but backward.

Preferred dividends amounted to $369,492, and common dividends to $7,819,110, leaving a final surplus for the year of $10,187,188. MODERATE COST HOMES ARE PLANNED

(Continued from Page 1.) have been attracted by the security of the investment. The low average has also enabled the banks to take care of a greater number of them.

To cover the gap between the first mortgage and the initial payment of the purchaser, the Land Contract company has been organized. The policies of this organization have been carefully worked out and established on a paying basis for the investor, the idea being that first in executing a large building program the individuals or concerns financing the operation are entitled to a part of the building profits. Through the activities of this concern much of the builders' money that would normally be tied up in second mortgages and land contracts is released and made available for re-investment in repeated operations.

The experience of this concern in handling this class of paper has demonstrated that, in order to make such a company successful and permanently efficient, a scale of discounts must be realized which at first glance seem rather high, but when the proposition is considered from all its angles, the charge is justified by the service given and is higher than should be realized by the investor in this form of security.

A number of Pontiac builders are turning their attention to the construction of modest three and four room houses, providing for but not including modern conveniences. The plans have been drawn in such a way that as the owner becomes financially able he may add two or three rooms and a basement without altering the first unit or in any way spoiling the appearance.

Under this plan, a two room house, 14 by 20 ft., may be constructed for $1,081.52. A three room house, 14 by 20 ft. and 10 by 10 ft., for $1,421.20. A four room house, 22 by 22 ft., for $1,743.64. At the present price of lumber and materials. These figures include the cost of a six foot cellar, lumber, labor, painting, plastering, wiring, toilet room and a ten percent safety margin. They do not include the cost of the land nor the extension sewer and water lines.

Type of House Constructed
These types of houses under construction in Pontiac will be lathed, plastered and papered. They are placed on lots approximately 40 by 100 ft., and set back from the street from the front end of the lot, so as to give ample room for extensions to the front. Blue prints and material bills for the type of house are on file at the office of the Chamber, as well as the blue prints showing the plan of the houses after adding the extensions.

Comparing Plans at Flint.
In Flint, various methods of financing are used, one of which seems to be entirely successful or even approaching that of Pontiac in a degree. Through an extension of the public campaign individuals have been prevailed upon to buy largely of first and second mortgages and land contracts, the discounts varying largely with the deals of different sizes and nature.

The banks of Flint appear to be straining their resources to the limit to meet the general loan demands. These conditions seemed to be less acute in Pontiac on account of the assistance given by the mortgage company referred to. In this city the Modern Homes Corporation is responsible for the majority of building activity.

MISTAKES Will Happen

Our advertisement in last Evening's issue of the Gazette stated that Women's Coats would be sold Saturday for $2.95..

This was an error on the part of the Gazette inasmuch as our copy very clearly read $23.75

We regret indeed that the error should have occurred but we trust that this explanation will be sufficient to let the public know that the regrettable error was in no way any fault of ours.

our immediate needs if they can be assured of adequate finances.

In Lansing, Mich., we found an entirely different situation. That city has not faced a problem of such rapid growth as has Flint and Pontiac, and apparently the demand for houses has been very moderate. The building being carried on there was financed originally by five manufacturing concerns who have subscribed one million dollars to a building fund, five hundred thousand of which has been paid in. This fund is handled by the Lansing House Building company, and is taking care of all mortgages and contracts. The class of homes being erected there is above the average, the cost approximating $8,000.

Very moderate impression gained from the trip is that the cities visited are building on an abnormal scale even in the face of some real difficulties in the prices of labor and materials which must be experienced at this time, an example which we must absolutely follow if we take advantage of the great opportunity which is ours at the present time.

It is the opinion of this committee that we have in Janesville plenty of new business and plenty of builders who are ready to improve the vacant property on a scale sufficiently large to care for our immediate needs if they can be assured of adequate finances.

It is our recommendation that we go into immediate consideration of the organization of a mortgage company, believing that such a company can be organized on a basis which will attract local capital and be the main factor in solving the problem of building financing in co-operation with the banks and the Building & Loan association and individual owners, the problem being unquestionably more one of financing than of building supervision.

Property Cheap Here.
We have plenty of vacant property at prices very reasonable in comparison with those found in cities visited. It is assumed that the increase in values which will logically follow our prospective increase in population will naturally offset any premium in the cost of building which it is necessary to pay in the present emergency. Visit of Bresnahan Warning to Ball Fans of City

PUBLIC MUST GIVE TEAM ALL SUPPORT

Dumont on Fence and May Go Unless—Kind of Aid Kennedy Gives Is What Is Needed.

By FRANK SINCLAIR
Whether Janesville is to really keep in line and grow as a semi-pro baseball city is a question that every fan of the city and every business man must give serious consideration. This situation is brought to the front by the visit here of Roger Bresnahan, owner of the Toledo, American Association team, to tangle with the local players. There are several outstanding features that it will do well to think about. Here they are:

Dumont Hesitating
1. George Dumont, crack Samson pitcher, and the best of the Americans in 1917, is on the fence as to whether to accept Bresnahan's offer.
2. The Samson Ball Club is under the supervision of the Samson Employees' Association and is receiving no support at all from the Samson Tractor Co.
3. Because of this second point, the success of the team and whether the Samson Company will eventually take the club over as a part of its organization, depends entirely upon the support given by the people of Janesville.

Offered More Money.
Dumont said today that he would like to remain here and help to put the Samson on the map, but he admits that he is seriously considering the Toledo opportunity. His point is this:
"If I can get a thousand dollars more somewhere else, it is up to me to go. Baseball is just like any other business. If a man has a chance to get more money in some other place, he would be foolish not to accept."

Several others of the team are sticking just to help get the club up. It is this season can be put across and it is shown to the Samson Tractor Company that the Employees' Association has not been backed in most of the Samson players who have had professional experience and are still worthy a place on major clubs—and offers a player more money, the association is up against it.

Let's Loosen Up.
Of course it means loosening up with the pocketbook. And that is what is wanted. The Employees' Association is not overburdened with greenbacks. Thus when a manager, or a big league club, comes here for material—and it must be remembered that most of the Samson players have had professional experience and are still worthy a place on major clubs—and offers a player more money, the association is up against it.

There are many men in this city, enthusiastic fans, who can add money to their rooting and base support until such time as it is shown to General Motors that there is an organization of baseball men in town that they can depend upon. Let's get up a Boosters' Club. Contribute financially to the support of the team and put the sport on a firm footing here.

So long as the national game grows we are certain of a community free of radicalism, bolshevism and all other ills that tear down the structure of a republic. It's up to the public now.

THE WILDFLOWER

The wildflower's kiss was all it knew.
Or the gentle touch of a spring-time breeze.
And quite content in the woods it grew.
With the noisy birds and the silent trees.

Then of a sudden, there came one day
A stranger into its far retreat.
And strong young hands that bore it away
To be hawken for dimes in a city street.

With its root-taps torn from the mother soil
It lay with its fellows, hushed, afraid
In the city's sooted lanes of toil
With its only hope to wither and fade.

And it yearned for its wildwood garden cool,
Where the chipmunk played and the butterfly,
Where the cattails waved beside the pool,
And now in a sultry town to die.

Now the last high windows take the sun,
And glow for a while like an ember fanned,
And the blossoms pray that its journey's done—
When it's raised on high by a little hand.

And soon it hides in the waving hair,
So gay once more that its color is lent
To the laughing girl till she grows old,
And its beauty given, it dies content.

But Jenkins is an awful dud,

I'm augured, gimpeted and bored!
